Schools for the Deaf and Blind

By arrangement between the two provinces, blind children from P.E.I. are maintained and educated at the Halifax School for the Blind in Halifax.

A class for deaf and hard of hearing children was opened at Charlottetown in September 1959. There are now two such classes operating in Charlottetown. Deaf persons requiring training of a vocational or technical nature are educated in Nova Scotia or elsewhere, as it is not economically feasible to provide this service in P.E.I.

EDUCATION IN QUEBEC

As of July 1964 the Quebec government gives the task of organizing, orienting and co-ordinating education to the Minister of Education. The Minister is assisted in his work by a deputy minister, two associate deputy ministers and six assistant deputy ministers.

To complete this directing team there are ten branches and nine general departments. Four of the nine general departments are operational in nature, each one taking care of one level or one particular type of teaching. The four departments are the general department of Elementary and Secondary School Education, of College Education, of Higher Education and of Permanent Education. Four others are functional in nature; they are: Planning, Equipment, Financing and Administration.

The role of the branches is complementary to that of the general departments. They comprise the branches of Private Education, Catholic Education, Protestant Education, Student Loans and Awards, Information, Parental Service, Teaching Methods, Co-operation with the Exterior, and Regional Offices.

ADMINISTRATIVE RESPONSIBILITIES

The Quebec educational system consists of two sectors: the public sector and the private sector. The provisions of the law for private education allow a control over the quality of teaching in the private institutions, as of December 18th, 1968.

THE PUBLIC SECTOR

The public sector comprises the nursery and primary schools administered by the local school boards, the high schools administered by the regional school boards, the colleges for general and professional education and the University of Quebec.

Since the law regarding the regrouping and administration of school boards came into effect on July 1st, 1972, there are sixty (60) regional school boards and 227 local school boards. The elementary course usually lasts six (6) years and the secondary course five (5) years. According to the terms of regulation No. 7 secondary education is polyvalent in that the students may choose professional options at the same time as general options.

College education (given by the colleges of general and professional education or C.E.G.E.P.) is difined by regulation No. 3 as being intermediary between secondary education, on the one hand, and university or the labour market, on the other. It is designed both for young people between the ages fo 17 and 19 years who wish to continue their studies at university or who are orienting themselves toward tbe labour market, and for adults who wish to complete their general or professional training according to the demands of tbe labour market. The polyvalent character of college education offers great advantages to adults who wisb to recycle themselves. They bave the opportunity to take professional courses which correspond as closely as possible to tbeir needs.

The University of Quebec consists of a network of educational and research cstablishments. The component elements are the university campuses of Montreal, Trois-Rivières, Chicoutimi, and Rimouski. Added to these are secondary scbools and research ıı stitutes, such as the National School of Public Administration (E.N.A.P.) and tbe National Institute for Scientific Researcb (I.N.R.S.).

THE PRIVATE SECTOR

The private sector is composed of establishments of primary, secondary and even college education. These institutions are subsidized for 80% of the cost per pupil in the public school, if they are recognized as being of public interest. If tbey are not recognized as being of public interest, they may receive a subsidy reaching 60% of the cost per pupil in the public scbool. Other institutions may receive a simple permit which does not make tbem eligible for any subsidy but wbich allows tbem to operate legally.

QUALIFICATIONS FOR ELECTORS IN FEDERAL AND PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS

ELECTIONS FOR THE FEDERAL HOUSE OF COMMONS

According to the Canada Elections Act, and subject to certain exceptions, the general rule as to the franchise of electors at a Federal election is that every person in Canada, man or woman, is qualified as an elector if such person

(a) is of the full age of 18 years or will attain such age on or before polling day at such election; and

(b) is a Canadian citizen.

Every British Subject, other than a Canadian citizen, who was qualified as an elector on the twenty-fifth day of June, 1968, and has not, since that date, ceased to be ordinarily resident in Canada, is also qualified as an elector. This privilege granted to a restricted group of British Subjects will terminate at midnight on the twenty-sixth day of June, 1975.

Among persons disqualified are prisoners, and persons under restraint owing to mental disease.

Whenever an election is ordered an entire new list of electors is prepared, according to the Canada Elections Act, under the general direction of the Chief Electoral Officer, and supervision of a returning officer who is appointed for each electoral district. There are two classes of polling divisions which are called Urban and Rural. Generally speaking urban polling divisions are those comprised in incorporated cities and towns of over 5,000 population, the other polling divisions are rural. In urban polling divisions, a pair of enumerators, representing different political interests, is appointed for each polling division. They make a house-to-house visitation after the issue of the writ for the appropriate pending election, to secure the necessary information to complete a list of electors for their polling division. In each rural polling division, the list is prepared by one rural enumerator. Writs for a general election are issued about two months before the date fixed for polling day; at by-elections writs may be issued about 45 days before polling day. Chief Electoral Officer, J.-M. Hamel, Ottawa.

ESTIMATED POPULATION OF CANADA BY PROVINCES AT JUNE 1, 1973

The estimated population of Canada at June 1, 1973 was 22,095,000. This figure results from a population accounting which starts with the 1971 Census, adds births and immigration, and deducts deaths and an estimate of emigration based largely on United States and United Kingdom government statistics of immigration from Canada. For each province the same general method is used as for Canada. For purposes of estimating interprovincial migration, Family Allowances statistics and other data are used.

The 1973 estimate is distributed by provinces as follows:

Canada	22,095,000
Newfoundland	541,000
Prince Edward Island	115,000
Nova Scotia	805,000
New Brunswick	652,000
Québec	6,081,000
Ontario	7,939,000
Manitoba	998,000
Saskatchewan	908,000
Alberta	1,683,000
British Columbia	2,315,000
Yukon	20,000
Northwest Territories	38,000

NOTES:

[1]The Canadian equivalents of assets and liabilities denominated in foreign funds have been determined on the following basis:

—matured debt and interest payable included in current liabilities, and, cash in current and special deposits included in current assets, have been converted at closing market rates at March 31.

—other liabilities and assets

—transactions to May 31, 1970 at official parity rates based on $1. U.S. = $1.08108 Canadian.

—transactions after May 31, 1970 at actual rates.

[2]The assets and liabilities recorded as "Foreign Exchange Reserves" are shown gross. The net foreign exchange reserves held by the Government of Canada are the difference between the assets and liabilities shown above plus the Receiver General's working balances in foreign currencies which are included above in "Cash in current and special deposits". Canada's official international reserves also include the Bank of Canada's holdings of convertible foreign currencies which are not recorded in the accounts of Canada.

The value of investments from advances to the Exchange fund account, on the basis of closing market rates at March 31, 1973, was $5,494,190,308. The comparable figure at the end of the prior year was $5,230,324,149. The Exchange fund is operated by the Bank of Canada.

[3]The decrease in the net debt reflects the budgetary surplus of $485,145,720.

HONOURS (CANADA)

For some years after Confederation awards were made of a few hereditary honours and some knighthoods and companionships in orders of chivalry, and this policy continued until the end of the first Great War.

On May 22, 1919, during the premiership of the Rt. Hon. Robert L. Borden, a resolution adopted by the House of Commons requested His Majesty to refrain from granting titular honours to Canadian citizens in the future. This policy was reversed in 1933 when, during the premiership of the Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, the Canadian Government recommended a number of such awards, which were duly granted on New Year's Day, 1934. Although titular honours were again conferred in 1935, the new administration which took office later that year under the premiership of the Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King revived the previous policy of the Government of 1919, and no titular honours have been recommended or awarded since that time.

On July 24, 1942, a Special Committee on Honours and Decorations reported to the House as follows:

"As a result of their deliberations your Committee desire to make the following recommendations:

(1) That His Majesty's subjects domiciled or ordinarily resident in Canada be eligible for the award of Honours and Decorations, including awards in the Orders of Chivalry, which do not involve titles.

(2) That His Majesty's Government in Canada consider a submission to His Majesty the King, of proposals for the establishment of an Order limited in number but not involving a title, for which His Majesty's subjects domiciled or ordinarily resident in Canada shall alone be eligible."

During the second Great War a large number of decorations were awarded to members of the armed forces and to civilians for war service. On July 1, 1946 the last Canadian honours list terminated decorations for war service for civilians. No awards in orders of chivalry have since been given to Canadian civilians. Recommendations are made from time to time for the award to civilians of decorations in recognition of exceptional bravery.

The first component of a distinctly Canadian honours system was introduced at the Centennial of Confederation when the Order of Canada was established on July 1st, 1967. In order that recognition may similarly be given in other fields of meritorious service and achievement, new arrangements came into effect on July 1st, 1972 which broadened the base of membership in the Order of Canada, established an Order of Military Merit and a series of three decorations for bravery.

This comprehensive system of honours is administered by the Secretariat of Honours, at Government House, in Ottawa.

ORDER OF CANADA

Her Majesty The Queen is Sovereign of the Order of Canada and the Governor General is, by virtue of that Office, Chancellor and Principal Companion. He is assisted in the administration of the Order by an Advi ory Council which comprises:

a) the Chief Justice of Canada (Chairman)
b) the Clerk of the Privy Council
c) the Under Secretary of State
d) the Chairman of the Canada Council
e) the President of the Royal Society of Canada
f) the President of the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada.
g) where considered appropriate by the Governor General, not more than two other members can be appointed by him.

The Secretary to the Governor General is, by his office, Secretary General of the Order.

The Order of Canada is designed to honour Canadian citizens for outstanding achievement and service to the country or to humanity at large and also for distinguished service in particular localities and fields of activity. The Order comprises three levels of membership: Companion, Officer, Member. Up to 15 Companions may be appointed annually, but the total number of living Companions may not exceed 150. Up to 40 Officers and 80 Members may be appointed annually with no over-all limit.

The Order includes no titles of honour and confers no special privileges, hereditary or otherwise. Awards are made solely on the base of merit. Members of the Order are entitled to place after their names the letters, for Companions: "C.C.", for Officers: "O.C.", for Members: "C.M.".

Any person or organization may make nominations for appointment to the Order by writing to the Secretariat of Honours at Government House, in Ottawa. The Advisory Council submits to the Governor General lists of those nominees who, in the opinion of the Council, sre of greatest merit. Appointments to the Order are made by the Sovereign of the Order on the recommendation of the Governor General as Chancellor of the Order, under an Instrument sealed with the Seal of the Order.

Non-Canadians whom the Government desires to honour may be accorded honorary membership in the Order.

ORDER OF MILITARY MERIT

The Order of Military Merit is designed to provide a means of recognizing conspicuous merit and exceptional service by members of the Canadian Armed Forces and comprises three levels of membership: Commander, Officer, Member.

The Queen is the Sovereign of the Order and the Governor General is the Chancellor as well as being a Commander of the Order. The Chief of the Defence Staff is the Principal Commander of the Order.

Appointments to the Order are made by the Governor General on the recommendation of the Minister of National Defence. Nominations will be made by the Chief of the Defence Staff who will be assisted by an Advisory Committee for the Order.

Although the number of appointments made each year may vary, the constitution stipulates that the total number to be appointed yearly shall not exceed one tenth of one percent of the average strength of the Armed Forces during the preceding year. Measurement of Ship Tonnage

Followed by the British Board of Trade; applying to all ships in the British Merchant Service, including Canadian registered vessels.

Gross Tonnage is the unit of volume containing 100 cubic feet in the internal volume of a vessel under the tonnage deck to which is added: (1) the 'tween deck space, if any, above the tonnage deck. (2) the volume of permanently closed-in spaces above the upper deck available for cargo stores, or for passengers and crew and (3) any excess of hatchways.

Net or Register Tonnage. The Net or Register Tonnage is the Gross Tonnage as found above less deductions for crew space, stores, navigation spaces, allowance for propelling power and other deductions allowable under the Merchant Shipping Act.

Deadweight Tonnage is the amount of cargo, equipment and effects on board, and is expressed in tons of 2240 lbs. each; or alternatively it is the difference in the displacement at a given draft and the displacement of the vessel "lightship" with water in boilers to working level and ready for steam but with none of the above mentioned items on board.

CANADA: JUDGES

In Canada there are two broad classes of courts—superior courts and county (or district) courts. Judges of the superior courts are addressed "The Honourable Mr. Justice ....." and judges of the county or district courts are addressed "His Honour Judge ————". The Supreme Court of Canada and the Federal Court of Canada are also superior courts. The Yukon Territorial Court and the Territorial Court for the Northwest Territories are superior courts.

There are two classes of Chief Justices—the Chief Justice of Canada or of a province on the one hand and the Chief Justice of a court on the other. The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Canada is styled the Chief Justice of Canada; similarly, there is a Chief Justice for each of the provinces. Other courts in the provinces, namely, the trial courts, usually have a Chief Justice also and he is known as the Chief Justice of that court.

The arms are those of England, Scotland, Ireland and France, with a "difference" to mark them as Canadian, namely on the lower third of the shield, a sprig of maple on a silver shield. The crest is a lion holding in its paw a red maple leaf, a symbol of sacrifice. The supporters are, with some slight distinctions, the lion and unicorn of the Royal Arms; the lion upholds the union Jack, and the unicorn the ancient banner of France.

The motto — A MARI USQUE AD MARE — "From sea to sea" — is an extract from the Latin version of verse 8 of the 72nd Psalm— "He shall have dominion also from sea to sea, and from the river unto the ends of the earth."

PETITIONS TO THE HOUSE OF COMMONS

A petition to the House of Commons must be presented by a Member, and such Member shall be answerable that the petition does not contain "impertinent or improper matter". One person may petition the House of Commons. Petitions may be either written or printed. When there are three or more petitioners, the signatures of at least three shall be subscribed on the sheet containing the prayer of the petition.

Long usage both here and in the United Kingdom has sanctioned the rule that every petition should commence with the superscription "To the Honourable the House of Commons of Canada in Parliament assembled". Then should follow the formula "The Petition of the undersigned.....humbly sheweth". The subject matter of the petition then follows in the third person throughout and each paragraph should commence with the word "That".

The conclusion should be the "prayer", briefly and clearly expressing the particular object which the petitioners have in view in coming before Parliament. The petition should close with the formal words "And your petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray".

SALARIES, ALLOWANCES & PENSIONS OF SENATORS & MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS

Members of the Senate and House of Commons receive a sessional allowance at the rate of $18,000 per annum. In addition, for each session of Parliament, they may be paid travelling expenses between their place of residence or constituency and Ottawa as may be required for the performance of their duties as members of the Senate or House of Commons. Senators receive an annual expense allowance of $4,000, and members of the House of Commons an annual expense allowance of $8,000, which are paid quarterly and are not subject to income tax. The member of the Senate occupying the recognized position as Leader of the Government in the Senate is paid, in addition to his sessional allowance, an annual allowance of $10,000, and to the member of the Senate occupying the recognized position as Opposition Leader in the Senate there is paid in addition to his sessional allowance, an annual allowance of $6,000; but if the Leader of the Government is in receipt of a salary under the Salaries Act the annual allowance above-mentioned is not paid. The remuneration of the Prime Minister is $25,000 a year and of a Cabinet Minister and the Leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons $15,000 a year in addition to the sessional and expense allowances each receives as a member of Parliament. The remuneration of a Minister without Portfolio is $7,500 a year in addition to the sessional and expense allowances. Other than the Prime Minister and the member occupying the recognized position as Leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons, an annual allowance of $4,000 is paid to each Leader of a Party that has a recognized membership of twelve or more persons in the House of Commons as well as to the Chief Government Whip and the Chief Opposition Whip in the House of Commons. The Speaker of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Commons each receives besides the sessional allowance and expense allowance, a salary of $9,000 per annum. The Deputy Speaker of the House of Commons receives a salary of $6,000 per annum. The Speaker of the Senate and of the House of Commons are also entitled to $3,000 in lieu of residence and the Deputy Speaker of the House of Commons an allowance of $1,500 in lieu of residence; these allowances are not taxable. The Deputy Chairman of the Committees receives an annual allowance of $4,000. The Parliamentary Secretaries to the Ministers of the Crown receive an annual allowance of $4,000, in addition to their sessional and expense allowances. A motor vehicle allowance of $2,000 is paid to each Minister of the Crown and to the recognized Leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons, and a motor vehicle allowance of $1,000 is paid to the Speakers of the Senate and of the House of Commons; these allowances are not taxable.

A member of Parliament contributes, by reservation, 7 1/2 p.c. of his sessional indemnity toward his retirement allowance, which is based on the average of the sessional indemnity received over the best consecutive six years of his pensionable service accumulated as follows: (1) 3 1/2 p.c. of this six year average for each of the first ten years of pensionable service; (2) 3 p.c. of this average for each of the next ten years; (3) 2 p.c. of this average for each of the next five years; and (4) 2 p.c. of this average for each of the years of pensionable service earned by his contributions from salary for extra duties performed as a Minister, etc., subject to an over-all maximum of 75 p.c. of that best six-year average.

The survivor's benefits are as follows: (1) 60 p.c. of the member's pension entitlement to the widow or widower; (2) If there is a surviving parent, 10 p.c. of the member's pension entitlement for each child up to three; and (3) If there is no surviving parent, 20 p.c. of the member's pension entitlement for each child up to four

A member who was a member at March 31, 1970, could have decided to remain under the provisions of the old plan; however, commencing April 1, 1970, the State required that he contribute on the total amount of his expense allowance and his sessional allowance. All other items that were applicable under the old plan remained in effect.

An Act to make provision for the retirement of members of the Senate (SC 1965 c.4) entitles a Senator appointed after June 2, 1965, to become a contributor under the provisions of the Members of Parliament Retiring Allowances Act. Senators appointed prior to that date and who have not attained the age of 75 years, who elect under the provisions of this Act, are also entitled to become contributors. Under the provisions of the Retiring Allowances Act, as amended, a Senator contributes, by reservation, 6 p.c. of his combined earnings (indemnity plus annual expense allowance) to the Consolidated Revenue Fund A Senator appointed before June 2, 1965 who (a) within one year of attaining the age of 75 years resigns his place in the Senate or (b) resigns due to some permanent infirmity disabling him from performing his duties in the Senate, may be granted an annuity equal to two thirds of his sessional indemnity for life. The widow of a person granted such an annuity may receive an annuity equal to three fifths of the annuity to the ex-member of the Senate.

Every former Prime Minister who held office for four years will receive from the Consolidated Revenue Fund an allowance of two thirds of the annual salary provided for Prime Ministers under the Salaries Act, the allowance to commence when the former Prime Minister ceases to hold office, or attains the age of 70 years whichever is the later, and to continue during his lifetime. The widow of a Prime Minister will receive an annual payment of one third of the allowance that was being paid or that would have been paid to her husband, where he dies without receiving the allowance such allowance to commence immediately after the death of her husband and to continue during her natural life or until her remarriage. None of these allowances is payable while the recipient is a Senator or a member of the House of Commons.

The Governor General receives a salary of $48,667. The estimates include an item for office salaries, printing, stationery and other allowances, and for travelling expenses.

The salary of the Lieutenant-Governors of the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec is $20,000; of Prince Edward Island $16,000; of the other provinces $18,000.

PARLIAMENTARY REPRESENTATION

The Parliament of Canada comprises the Senate, being the Upper House, and the House of Commons.

The Senate

Senators are appointed by the Crown; those appointed prior to 2nd June, 1965, hold their positions for life, while those appointed after that date hold their positions until they attain the age of 75 years; must be Canadian citizens or British subjects and 30 years of age; must own lands worth net $4,000 in the province which they represent, and must be worth $4,000 above all debts. They must be residents of the province for which appointed or of the electoral division in the Province of Quebec.

The Speaker is appointed by the Governor-General.

The Senate as originally constituted at Confederation consisted of 72 members. Through the addition of new provinces and the general growth of Canada it now has 102 members, the latest change in representation having been made March 31, 1949, with the admission of Newfoundland to Confederation. By provinces, representation is as follows: Nfld 6, P.E.I. 4, N.S. 10, N.B. 10, Que. 24, Ont. 24, Man. 6, Sask. 6, Alta. 6, B.C. 6: total 102.

The House of Commons

The members of the House of Commons are elected by the people. The ordinary legal limit of duration for each Parliament is five years, sitting at least once a year. The Speaker is elected by the House.

By virtue of Section 51 of the British North America Acts, 1867 to 1952, and of the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act, and pursuant to rules laid down therein, a representation order is prepared after each decennial census to adjust the representation in the House of Commons.

The representation in the House of Commons for the 29th Parliament is as follows: Alta. 19; B.C. 23; Man. 13; N.B. 10; Nfld. 7; N.S. 11; Ont. 88; P.E.I. 4; Que. 74; Sask. 13; N.W.T. 1; and the Yukon 1; making a total of 264.

Its loss must be reported to the local police and either to the Passport Office, Ottawa, one of the regional offices in Toronto, Montreal, Vancouver, Edmonton, Halifax or Winnipeg, or to the nearest Canadian diplomatic mission (Embassy, High Commisioner's Office) Consular or Trade Office abroad.

A passport does not confer the right to enter any country. (See Visas and Entry Requirements below.) It constitutes an acknowledgement by the issuing government that the bearer is a citizen and is entitled to the rights and privileges of citizenship. The Canadian passport states that a Canadian citizen is a British subject in accordance with Section 21, of the Canadian Citizenship Act.

Passport Requirements:

All applicants (including children whose names will appear in a parent's passport) must submit documentary proof of Canadian Citizenship: (a) applicants born in Canada – Certificates of Birth; or – Certificate of Canadian Citizenship (includes miniature certificate); (b) applicants not born in Canada – Certificate of Canadian Citizenship, or – Certificate of Naturalization in Canada; or – Certificate of Registration of Birth Abroad.

Applicants not born in Canada who do not hold one of the certificates mentioned above must confirm their citizenship status with the nearest Federal Citizenship Court Office or the Registrar of Canadian Citizenship, Ottawa and submit, with the passport application, a Certificate of Canadian Citizenship.

Validity of Passport:

The total life of a Canadian passport issued after January 22, 1969, is five years. Passports now issued may not be renewed on the expiry of the original five year period. Passports issued originally for five years and which have since been renewed for a further period of up to five years will continue to be valid until the expiry date given in the passport.

Alternatively, they may be presented in person at any of the six regional offices in Toronto, Montreal, Vancouver, Edmonton, Halifax or Winnipeg. Regional offices do not accept mailed-in applications. Canadian citizens residing abroad should apply to the Canadian mission in their country of residence. "Passport Application Form A" and "Passport Application Form B for a child under 16" can be obtained from any main or branch post office in Canada (but not from a sub-post office), from the Passport Office, Ottawa, from the regional offices or from travel agencies.

Regulations and instructions for persons applying for Canadian passports in Canada are contained in application Forms A & B.

Every application for passport must be signed by a guarantor from one of the eligible categories listed below who must also certify the back of the applicant's photograph; Mayor; Lawyer (member of a provincial bar association); Notary Public; Professional Engineer (P. Eng.) (CEQ in Quebec); Professional Accountant (C.A.; C.P.A.; R.I.A.; C.G.A.; A.P.A.); Postmaster; Collector of Customs; Judge; Magistrate; Police Officer (R.C.M.P., Provincial and Municipal); Minister of Religion licenced under provincial law to perform marriages; Person holding senior university administrative position or teaching appointment; Head of Community College (includes CEGEP); Principal of Secondary or Primary School; Signing Officer of Bank or Trust Company and full time Manager of Credit Union; Medical Doctor; Dentist.

The guarantor must be a Canadian citizen and have known the applicant for at least two years: If there is no one available within the group of eligible guarantors who has known the applicant for at least two years, the applicant should complete a Statutory Declaration in lieu of Guarantor and include the supplementary information which serves to identify the applicant. Passport Form PPT 132 is used for this purpose and is available at post offices, travel agencies and transportation companies. In Canada, the Declaration must be completed before an official (who must include his position and affix his seal), who is a Commissioner for Oaths, Notary Public or Justice of the Peace. The official before whom the statutory declaration is made must also certify one of the applicant's photographs on the reverse side as follows: "This is exhibit A to the Statutory Declaration declared before me by .....(name of applicant) on this.....(date) day of .....(month) year 19....." adding his signature.

The attention of applicants and guarantors is drawn to Section 58 of the Criminal Code covering passport fraud whereby: "Everyone who, while in or out of Canada, for the purpose of procuring a passport for himself or any other person, makes a written or oral statement that he knows is false or misleading is guilty of an indictable offence and is liable to imprisonment for two years."

Children:

The name of a child under 16 years of age may be included in the passport of either parent but may not be included in the passports of both parents at the same time. UNITED STATES IMMIGRATION REGULATIONS

Every person entering the United States for any purpose whatever, even for a limited time, must have (1) a passport from the Government to which such person owes allegiance or other acceptable travel document, and (2) a visa issued by an American Consular officer; excepting Canadians and certain British subjects or Commonwealth citizens who may enter without passports or visas under certain conditions (for details see below).

Visas are of two kinds: (1) Immigrant visas, which are for permanent or indefinite residence in the United States, and (2) Non-immigrant visas, which are for temporary entry into the United States for definite short periods for business, pleasure, transit through, as a student, crewman, etc.

All persons applying for a non-immigrant visa at United States consular offices in Canada must present a passport or other travel document valid for at least six months beyond the contemplated initial period of stay in the United States except Canadian citizens and certain British subjects or Commonwealth citizens.

Border Crossing Regulations:

Canadian nationals and landed immigrants in Canada who are British subjects or Commonwealth citizens or citizens of Ireland, are not required to present passports and visas when entering the United States temporarily and a passport shall not be required of such a national or subject except after a visit outside of the Western Hemisphere. Satisfactory evidence of identity and citizenship may be required and would comprise Canadian or appropriate passport valid or expired, landed immigrant cards, Canadian birth or baptismal certificates, or Canadian certificates of naturalization.

Canadian citizens domiciled in Canada, entering the United States temporarily from other than the Western Hemisphere, do not require visas but must be in possession of unexpired passports.

Canadian citizens not domiciled in Canada, entering the United States temporarily, must present a valid passport.

Landed immigrants in Canada who are British subjects or Commonwealth citizens entering the United States from other than the Western Hemisphere, do not require visas but must be in possession of unexpired passports.

In addition, everyone should be in possession of evidence establishing that he is in fact a bona fide temporary visitor. Letters of reference from the applicant's employer or husband's employer, or bank manager, if in business for self, are the most satisfactory. Those desiring further information regarding entry requirements may call in person or write to the nearest U.S. Consulate.

American citizens do not require passports to re-enter the United States from Canada but must satisfy the immigration officials at the port of entry that they are in fact United States citizens.

Ottawa, Ont. K1A OW9

The Medical Research Council does not maintain laboratories of its own. Its primary function is to assist and promote basic, applied and clinical research in Canada in the health sciences, other than public health research. Research in faculties of medicine and their affiliated institutions and hospitals in faculties of dentistry and pharmacy and research in other faculties which is highly relevant to health is supported chiefly through an extensive program of grants in aid designed to defray the normal direct costs of approved projects. Personnel support is provided by means of studentships and fellowships for research training at the pre- and post-doctoral level, and through scholarships and associateships for the support of a limited number of fully trained investigators working in Canadian universities.

CANADA'S ARMED FORCES

The Canadian Armed Forces are controlled and administered by an integrated Canadian Forces Headquarters at Ottawa. The Chief of the Defence Staff is the senior officer of the forces and of this Headquarters. The Headquarters is organized under four Branch Heads – the Vice Chief of the Defence Staff, Chief of Personnel, Chief of technical Services and the Comptroller General.

THE MARITIME ELEMENT OF THE CAN. FORCES

The Primary role of the Maritime Element of the Canadian Forces continues to be anti-submarine warfare which is organic to all forms of maritime operations. Projects are underway to improve the capability of Canadian warships in other forms of warfare, particularly anti-air defence, fire support for land operations, defence against other warships and sealift for land forces. It is planned that the Canadian Maritime Force by itself or in conjunction with the maritime forces of our allies will have a good capability for the direct protection of Canada, as a contribution to NATO maritime forces, and for peacekeeping / peace-restoring tasks.

Maritime Command comes under the central authority of the Chief of the Defence Staff in Ottawa. The Commander, Maritime Command, at Halifax, N.S., exercises operational and administrative command of all ships, aircraft, submarines and Canadian Forces Bases assigned to Maritime Command on the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts. The Deputy-Commander, Maritime Command, as Commander, Maritime Forces Pacific, is located at Esquimalt, B.C., and exercises command and control of forces in the Pacific area. Included in Maritime Command are the following Canadian Forces Bases: Halifax, Esquimalt, Greenwood, Summerside, Shearwater, and Comox.

There are naval elements in the Canadian Defence Liaison Staffs at London and Washington. As a result of Canada's NATO commitments, officers with maritime experience serve on the staffs of: The Supreme Allied Commander, Atlantic, at Norfolk, Va., in the U.S.A.; Commander-in-Chief, Eastern Atlantic Area, at Northwood in the United Kingdom; and Commander-in-Chief, Western Atlantic Area, at Norfolk, Va. The Commander Maritime Command holds the NATO appointment of Commander, Canadian Atlantic Sub-Area.

With the continuing process of integration, officers and men of the Maritime Element of the Canadian Forces are also serving in other functional commands such as Training Command, Materiel Command and Mobile Command. This re-organization has also resulted in the Canadian Forces Base concept whereby the support functions of the Navy, Army, and Air Force in a particular area have been amalgamated into one entity, the Base, which serves all services and commands in that location.

SEA CADET CORPS

Sea Cadet Corps are organized in various centres across Canada to operate summer training establishments. The Navy League of Canada has been responsible for administration and general operation of Corps and the provision of Corps training quarters.

THE LAND ELEMENT OF THE CAN. FORCES

The Land Element of the Canadian Forces is under the central authority of the Chief of the Defence Staff and controlled and administered by Canadian Forces Headquarters in Ottawa.

The operational land elements of the Canadian Forces consist of a mechanized brigade group, three combat groups and an airborne regiment together with supporting elements for communications, administration, logistics and training. The mechanized brigade group is under the command of Headquarters Canadian Forces Europe and the remainder of the land elements are commanded by Headquarters Mobile Command.

In fulfilment of our military obligation under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, Canada has continued to provide ground forces, one Mechanized Brigade Group, for the defence of Western Europe. The Headquarters for the Brigade Group is at Lahr. In addition, Canada has assigned one Battalion Group to the Supreme Allied Commander Europe for employment as part of Allied Command Europe Mobile Force, and the balance of a Combat Group for employment as Reinforcement Forces on the NATO northern Flank.

The Combat Group is located in Canada and can be air and sea-lifted as required.

Canadian membership in the International Supervisory Commissions of Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia resulted in the Canadian Army providing 20 officers and men for Truce Supervisory duties.

The Land Element of the Canadian Forces provides 14 officers and 9 men to the United Nations Military Observer Group in India and Pakistan as well as a contingent totalling 577 officers and men to the United Nations Force in Cyprus. In addition plans are in being to be able to provide additional forces for service under or in support of the United Nations.

Canada is providing the Governments of Ghana with Armed Forces personnel to train and advise their military forces. This contribution is 4 officers and men.

In Canada officers and officer cadets from Tanzania, Ghana, Kenya, Korea, Singapore, Uganda, Zambia, Jamaica and Malaysia are receiving training in Canadian Armed Forces schools.

The Land Element of the Canadian Forces is responsible for the conduct of those aspects of National Survival and Emergency Measures operations which were assigned to the Dept. of National Defence.

The Canadian Forces Equipment Devel. Program continues to concentrate on those fields particularly suited to Canadian capabilities and in which there are special Canadian needs. Participation in materiel and non-materiel standardization programs with the United States, the United Kingdom, Australia and NATO continues. Additional agreements reached with allied armies affecting procedures and equipment enhanced their capabilities for cooperative operations.

Both light and heavy helicopters have been procurred in order to provide a better operational and training capability.

In addition the Brigade Group in Europe has been issued with the M109 Self-propelled 155 millimeter Howitzer replacing the less mobile and shorter range 105mm howitzer.

The Commander Mobile Command may prescribe a maximum level, in terms of days of service, which may be performed by an officer or man of the Militia. The majority of militiamen, however, receive about 35 days pay per year for training at evening parades, weekend exercises and summer courses or attachements. Selected militiamen may be attached to Regular Force schools or units for qualification courses or on job training.

The Regular Officer Training Plan is in effect at the three Canadian Services Colleges and at all Canadian universities and affiliated colleges which have contingents of the COTC. Training consists of academic and military studies, drill and physical training during the academic year; the summer term is devoted to practical training at military establishments.

The Canadian Officers Training Corps has now been replaced by an off Campus Training program under the Reserve Officer University Training Plan. The Militia element of this plan provides the opportunity of entry into the Reserve Force for undergraduates who wish to qualify as officers in the Primary Reserve.

Training consists of an equivalent of 15 days drills at the local Militia unit during the academic year, and one summer of 16 weeks devoted to practical training conducted at a military establishment.

ARMY CADETS

The strength of the Army Cadets as of 31 Jan., 1972 was 35,400 cadets enrolled in 416 Cadet Corps. Cadet summer camps are located at Gagetown, N.B.; Valcartier, P.Q.; Ipperwash, Ont.; Shilo, Man.; Banff, Alta.; and Vernon, B.C.

THE AIR ELEMENT OF THE CAN. FORCES

The Air Element of the Canadian Forces comes under the central authority of the Chief of the Defence Staff and is administered by Canadian Forces Headquarters at Ottawa.

The role of the Air element is to provide operational forces for: (a) A contribution to the air defence of North America as specified by the NORAD agreements. (b) An air component to the NATO forces in Europe. (c) Airlift and support operations for the armed forces in Canada and overseas. (d) Air search and rescue and co-ordination of marine search and rescue in Canada and approaches thereto. (e) A contribution to National Survival Operations (f) United Nations military operations, as agreed in each instance by the Government of Canada.

The organization includes approximately 24 flying squadrons of the Regular forces and 6 flying squadrons of the Air Reserve. The Reserve Squadrons are assigned a light transport and emergency and rescue role. Three of the Regular flying squadrons contribute to the air defence of North America as a component of NORAD: 3 squadrons are assigned to the NATO air forces of Western Europe; four squadrons are required for Canadian Forces Air Transport operations at home and abroad and four squadrons for search and rescue; two squadrons are required for tactical support. Two transport helicopter squadrons contribute to the mobility of the land forces.

In Canada, officers, officer cadets, and airmen from Ghana, Jamaica, Kenya, Tanzania, Zambia, Uganda, and Singapore are receiving training in Canadian Forces training schools.

The strength of the Air Element is approximately 40,000 regular officers and men, together with about 1,000 Reserves.

Air Defence Command operates the Pinetree Line as an integral part of North American Air Defence Command (NORAD) and contributes to the manning of the Distant Early Warning Line. (DEW)

AIR CADETS

Air Cadet activities in Canada are sponsored and administered by the Air Cadet League of Canada. In peacetime the object of Air Cadet training is to produce better citizens through air-age education. The Canadian Armed Forces works jointly with the League and provides training personnel, syllabi and equipment. The authorized peacetime strength ceiling is 30,000 and the strength as of 31 Jan , 1972, was approximately 24,800 enrolled in 383 squadrons.

CANADA'S PENAL SYSTEM

THE FEDERAL PENITENTIARY SYSTEM

The Canadian Penitentiary Service is currently operating 48 institutions: 7 maximum security institutions, 10 medium security institutions, 12 minimum security institutions and 19 specialized institutions. There are also three Regional Headquarters located in Que., Ont. and B.C., in addition to three staff colleges in same regions.

The actual inmate population in federal institutions is about 7,800 broken down as follows: approximately 36 per cent in maximum security institutions, 45 per cent in medium security institutions and 19 per cent in minimum and specialized institutions. The total staff of the Penitentiary Service including regional administration personnel and national headquarters is 4,800.

Inmate training programs continue to be developed in co-operation with citizen groups, industries, universities and the several levels of government.

It is expected this year that over 35,000 temporary absences will have been granted to inmates for rehabilitative and humanitarian reasons and that more than 15,000 citizens will have visited the institutions to assist in greatly expanded citizen participation programs. The temporary leave of absence program provided in the Penitentiary Act since 1960-61, has been given special emphasis for the past three years. The actual success rate of this program scores a high 99 per cent. This program continues to provide employment to inmates and maintains family ties.

The traditional objective of classification and psychological services – diagnosis, treatment and pre-release planning – are becoming more program-oriented in the sense that as these behavioural scientists become more numerous their availability to institutional management in an advisory capacity is increasing Stress is being placed on admission and classification at the reception level. Each region has its reception centre where inmates are being tested and counselled extensively thus allowing a more appropriate placement of individuals, newly sentenced or repeaters.

Many full-time academic staff augmented by librarians, teacher interns and professionals from community colleges near our institutions are conducting up-to-date programs of adult education designed to enable the inmates to acquire and develop basic communication, computation and life skills, essential for them to exercise their rights and responsibilities in a free society, and to develop skills in demand in the labour market.

The involvement of citizens spans those who take part in recreational, religious and treatment activities. Inmates are invited to speak to church, school and other community groups. Others visit industrial plants and universities as guests of management and university authorities, while many inmates are active in local community sports programs and often provide teams in regional leagues. Alcoholics Anonymous programs are conducted at all institutions and Community Correctional Centres. Among citizen groups and agencies that take part in institutional programs are: Rotary, Kinsmen, Jaycees, Creative Awards Assn., Chaplains' Volunteers, Knights of Columbus, Legion of Mary, John Howard Society, Elizabeth Fry Society, St. Leonard Society of Canada, Volunteer Visitors, Alienated Youth, Salvation Army, Native Brotherhoods, Indian & Métis Assns., Black United Front and many others.

Medical, psychiatric, psychological and dental services are available to all inmates. Psychiatric services as well as medical services are currently being re-organized on a regional basis. Each region will have its own psychiatric centre staffed with professional medical and nursing personnel. Such centres are augmented by Provincial Psychiatric and University facilities.

Continuous training is being provided for the penitentiary staff at all levels. Staff colleges are used for induction training courses, intermediate management courses, senior officers courses and many other administrative courses. Special training is being given for Living Unit Officers. The role of correctional officers will not be only that of security but also includes counselling services that requires knowledge in the behavioural sciences.

Staff development also includes conferences and seminars. All staff are eligible for courses conducted by the Public Service Commn. and in addition, a number of officers are selected each year for university training.

*1 Source: 1973 Municipal Directory, Ministry of Treasury, Economics & Intergovernmental Affairs.
*2 Besides these organized villages, there were 128 police villages as of January 1, 1973. These are run by boards of trustees elected by residents. Such boards cannot levy taxes or pass by-laws for the borrowing of money. Instead, the police village requisitions the township, of which it is a part, for financing.
*3 Counties united for administrative purposes are: Leeds and Grenville; Northumberland and Durham; Prescott and Russell; Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry.
*4 On January 1, 1974 four more regional governments were established in Durham, Peel, Halton, and Hamilton-Wentworth involving a reduction in area municipalities from 49 to 21. At publication time, a name for Durham had still to be decided by a referendum.

The southern part of Ontario is divided into 34 county administrative units, and 657 local municipalities are incorporated into these for the provision of such services as roads, health and welfare. All 35 cities and 6 separated towns located within the geographical boundaries of such counties do not come within their administrative jurisdictions.

The county councils are composed of the reeves of all the local municipalities within the county and, in certain cases, the deputy reeves.

In addition to counties, there are a number of regional municipalities which provide, or oversee, on a region-wide basis, such services as major roads, water supply, sewage collection and treatment, health and welfare, planning co-ordination and emergency measures. These regions are responsible for all long-term debt.

The Municipality of Metro Toronto provides for, or oversees, on a metro-wide basis, police protection, emergency services, major roads, traffic control, sewage and waste disposal, welfare, metropolitan parks, libraries, broad planning and licensing. The municipality issues all long-term debt within the area.

The northern portion of Ontario is divided into 10 districts. Districts, unlike counties, are not organized for municipal purposes. Thus, the 176 unincorporated municipalities in the north are not incorporated into joint municipal units.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS

Under The Municipal Elections Act, 1972, local government elections in Ontario are held on the first Monday in December. A standard two-year term of office is provided for all municipal councils, school boards and other local boards.

The preliminary list of electors is based on information obtained through annual ennumeration by the assessment commissioner during the five weeks immediately following Labour Day.

Mandatory advance polls are held by all municipalities on the Monday and Friday, 7 and 2 days respectively before polling day.

Candidates can be nominated by filing the required papers in the municipal clerk's office during the four days preceding official nomination and until 5 p.m. on that day. These must be signed by at least ten electors entitled to vote, certified by the clerk, and the candidates' names suitably posted.

IMPROVEMENT DISTRICTS

In 1943, The Municipal Act was amended to provide for the incorporation of improvement districts having the municipal status of towns, townships or villages, administered by three trustees appointed by the Lieutenant Governor in Council. THE CANADIAN ALMANAC AND DIRECTORY

"Libraries, schools, colleges, and offices large and small find the Canadian Almanac and Directory an indispensible reference work, but it takes the secretaries of Canada to fully appreciate the extent of the information it contains." To this reviewer's opinion we can add that the 1974 edition features a completely new and expanded directory of municipal, provincial, and federal government departments, boards, and associated agencies; this section now includes a convenient table of information sources for all levels of government in Canada, and for all government departments an information officer is listed, with telephone number.

The new Canadian Almanac retains all of the important features that have helped to establish it as the standard, authoritative desk reference for librarians, lawyers, editors, politicians, businessmen, scholars, teachers, students, government employees, and secretaries. It is many complete directories in one volume, covering not only government at all levels but also libraries and librarians, associations, post offices, school boards, practising lawyers, parliaments, transportation services. It is widely used as an indispensible aid in verifying place names, statistics, postal information, shipping routes, and the names and addresses of institutions and officials.

The Canadian Almanac has earned the place it enjoys in the working life of Canadians through the care taken year after year for many generations to ensure that each new edition is accurate (all data is obtained from authoritative sources, checked and double-checked), up to date (every page is revised to incorporate the latest information), convenient (a full index gives instant access to the wealth of facts, names, and figures), and comprehensive (basic tabulated information is brought together in one volume from every important sphere of Canadian affairs).
